Important town south of Soura and astride the high road to the Indonesian capital, was burning, the communiqué said. Armored-supported Dutch army seized Saluga, a town beyond it on the route to the coast.

Dutch also put the torch to 12 miles north of Soura, the objective of another scorched earth tactic.

In the east, Soemadang and 20 miles east of it, were also fired, the communiqué said. It said both towns were leveled.

Mercury Drops To 50 Degrees

Lowest Mark in 22 Years Registered Here; Chill Grips Wide Area.

The temperature in Marion fell to 50 degrees above zero last night, probably the lowest July temperature in the past 22 years, and cool temperature is expected again tonight before relief from the unseasonable cold wave arrives. The weather bureau today forecast chilly readings again tonight with warmer weather in store Thursday afternoon to bring temperatures back to readings near normal for this season.

According to weather reports appearing in The Star, a low of 48 degrees was recorded July 2, 1925. Other lows during the same month were 51 and July 15 and 53 on July 22.

The maximum temperature of 69 degrees between 8 p. m. yesterday and 8 a. m. today was just five degrees above the minimum recorded a year ago yesterday. The maximum a year ago was 65.

Cleveland's 76-Year-Old
At Cleveland, the Associated Press reported, the mercury sank to 50 degrees for three hours this morning, lowest on July 23 in the 75-year history of the Cleveland weather bureau.

The reading broke the record low for the day of 51, established in 1886. Weatherman C. G. Andrus said tomorrow's low likely would set a record, too.

Yesterday's thunderstorm, which pelted eastern suburbs with soft hail, increased Cleveland's July rainfall to 3.87 inches 1.34 inches above normal.

Total rain for the year, one of the wettest in Cleveland's history, now is 29.69 inches, or 10.76 inches above normal.

Cool Over Wide Area
A midsummer cool wave in parts of the midwest and south, and torrential rains in northwestern Pennsylvania highlighted the nation's weather map today.

Warmer air overpassed the northern great plains, the Upper Mississippi valley and the Lakes region to break the chilly spell.

The mercury slid to 53 in Nashville, Tenn., and dropped to 47 in Bowling Green, Ky., as the mass of cool air extended south. U. S. weather forecasters in Chicago said the unseasonably cool weather would reach the Appalachian section tonight.

Hail-drifts Near Cleveland
Hail and rain fell along Lake Erie yesterday and hail-drifts 10 inches deep were reported in Pepper Pike, a village near Cleveland. The weather bureau explained the rain carried the hail along and piled into drifts where it softened into slush resembling snow.

Next Seven Days Crucial To Ohio's Wheat Crop Hopes

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., July 23—Unusually rapid progress is made during the next seven days in combining wheat Ohio faces a "considerable loss" of the 1947 crop the U. S. weather bureau and the agricultural statisticians predicted today.

During the week ended yesterday, the report said, favorable conditions prevailed only for the growth of vegetables, sugar beets, soybeans and truck crops.

Field work in some central counties was at a standstill, although all wheat was reported ripe and ready for combining northward about as far as Lima and Canton.

"Some wheat is already in shock around Toledo, Tiffin and Warren," the report said, "but oats are still largely green in northern Ohio."

Soft wet ground had made it impossible to cultivate or combine, the survey continued, adding that the July temperature of an average 71 degrees was 14 degrees cooler than the 85-year average for the month.

Long-Missing Plane Believed Discovered
By The United Press
LONGMIRE, Wash., July 23—A search party moved up the ice-covered slope of Mt. Rainier today to investigate airplane wreckage tentatively identified as a Marine transport missing since Dec. 10, with 32 persons aboard.

The wreckage was sighted by Assistant Chief Ranger Bill Butler of the national park service from a vantage point on the ridge of Success Cleave last Monday. Butler said parts of the aircraft were widely scattered and appeared to be at the 10,000-foot level on south Tahoma glacier.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, July 23—Company and union officials announced early today that a strike of 2,000 cables employees of subsidiaries of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. called last midnight, was ended two and one-half hours later on the basis of a 10 cents per hour across-the-board wage increase.

RED EVIDENCE HANDED TO FBI

House Committee Turns Submarine Spy Testimony Over.

BULLETIN
By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 23—A house judiciary subcommittee approved today a bill that would open the way to American citizenship for Victor A. Kravchenko, former Soviet official who has publicly renounced Communism.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 23—The house committee on un-American activities plans to hand over to the navy and FBI testimony that Soviet agents got secret wartime information on American planes and submarines.

Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-N.J.) told reporters of the intention today as the committee switched its general investigation of Communist activities from spying to union infiltration.

Six witnesses from Winston-Salem, N. C., were on tap to testify whether Communist influences have been at work in Local 22 of the CIO Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers union. The union has been on strike at the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company plant at Winston-Salem.

The testimony on planes and submarines which the committee considered worthy of passing on to interested government agencies was supplied yesterday by Victor A. Kravchenko.

Kravchenko, a former official of the Russian government who defected from the Red regime, said that while he was with the Soviet purchasing commission here several years ago a man named Khimushkin obtained an "enormous" mass of confidential information on the American aviation program and sent it to Moscow.

Similar information was obtained on submarines, Kravchenko said later, behind locked doors he told the committee who was responsible.

Kravchenko, who is seeking American citizenship, went before another house committee today to talk about that. A judiciary subcommittee is considering a bill that would waive some provisions of the naturalization laws so the Russian could become a citizen.

The former Soviet official told the un-American activities committee that every responsible representative of the Russian government in the United States can be regarded as "economical or political spies."

Asserting that Stalin's death would not remove Russian differences with the western democracies, Kravchenko added that they would continue under a successor who probably would be Foreign Minister Molotov.

Marshall Loses Way In Maryland Town
By The Associated Press
FREDERICK, Md., July 23—An automobile with District of Columbia tags pulled to the curb last night and a silver-haired man leaped out to hail newspaper publisher William T. Delaplaine.

"I've been lost in this town an hour," the man said, asking directions to the home of a Frederick friend, Col. Harrison McAlpine.

"With pleasure, General," said Delaplaine, recognizing the motorist as Secretary of State Marshall.

After setting him on the right road, the publisher remarked: "You have a big job on your hands, General."

"If I don't do any better than I did driving the streets of Frederick, I won't do so well," said the secretary of state with a grin as he drove away.

CLEVELAND CHURCH SOLD FOR TAXES BY MISTAKE

Purchaser Wants $5,000 for Building Bought for $500.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, July 23—Rev. J. W. Grant and the 40 contributing members of his congregation were looking today for a way to get back their church, which was sold by mistake to a real estate investor at a public auction of tax delinquent properties.

The real estate man, Stanley J. Olstyn, wants $5,000 for the church, which he bought last April for $500, and Rev. Grant says members of the Church of God and Saints of Christ on Cleveland's east side can't afford that price, County Auditor John A. Zangerle reported.

Zangerle said Olstyn declared he would raise the church for lumber if the members didn't buy it back, but the real estate investor expressed willingness to arbitrate.

"The minister offered to give me my $500 back," Olstyn said, but "I'm not in business just to get my money back."

Churches are tax exempt here, and only the parsonage was included Zangerle explained Olstyn said he thought the church was abandoned when he purchased it.

CIO CHIEF INDICTED FOR DENYING REDISM

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 23—A federal grand jury today indicted Harold Roland Christoffel, Milwaukee CIO leader, on charges that the committed perjury in telling a congressional committee that he was not a member of the Communist party.

Christoffel testified before the house labor committee last March 1. He was president of the United Auto Workers Local No. 248 at a time when Alvin Karpis plants in the Milwaukee area were shut down by a protracted strike.

The labor committee was investigating the causes of labor disputes, work stoppages and strikes with particular reference to any influence of subversive groups.

The indictment said that Christoffel, under oath, "consciously and willfully" denied being a Communist or a member of the Communist party.

Under the Legion plan, any one of the Big Five would be able to block admission of new UN members or the creation of special investigating commissions unless some question of aggression was involved.

Actress and Model Subpoenaed In Hughes' Contract Inquiry

By The United Press
HOLLYWOOD, July 23—Actress Judy Cook and Martha Goldthwaite, 26-year-old model, have been subpoenaed to testify at a congressional investigation of Howard Hughes' government airplane contracts.

A deputy U. S. marshal served Miss Goldthwaite, who described herself as a free-lance model.

"He just asked me if I was there and handed me the paper," Miss Goldthwaite said. "He talked to my father a while. But I don't know what it's all about."

"I don't know Howard Hughes," Miss Goldthwaite said, "all I know is that I am supposed to go to Washington Aug. 7."

Miss Cook, a free-lance movie actress and former Aquacade swimmer, also was served, the U. S. marshal's office reported.

The marshal said he had no idea what connection the women had with the case.

Both Beautiful
"All I know is that they are both beautiful girls," he said.

Both subpoenas ordered the women to appear in Washington, on Aug. 7.

Reports that subpoenas had also been issued for Lana Turner, Linda Darnell and Ava Gardner, friends of the oil millionaire, could not be confirmed. Their studios said they had not been served.

The senate was investigating committee disclosed Sunday it also has subpoenaed the late President Roosevelt's secret papers, and informed sources said the investigation might blow up into the "hot" end of World War II.

These same sources said witnesses and documentary evidence to be presented would involve elaborate Hollywood parties and party girls, movie capital notables, "wine and dine" air corps officers and high-pressure war contracting.

The committee hopes to establish a connection between Hughes, Henry J. Kaiser, his former air producing partner, and Elliott Roosevelt, second son of the late president.

All three were expected to testify voluntarily, a committee source said.

Both Aviation Enthusiasts
Hughes and the late president's second son both are aviation enthusiasts. Elliott flew photographic reconnaissance planes during the war. Committee members thought they might show a connection between this and the fact that Hughes was permitted to spend the huge sum on development of his XF-11, one of which crashed and the other of which still is undergoing tests.

It was Hughes' airline, Transworld, which flew Roosevelt to the Grand Canyon when he married Faye Emerson, Warner Brothers actress, Dec. 3, 1944. Jack Hyde, then president of the line, personally flew Roosevelt out in a company plane.

There were complaints at the time, during the gasoline shortage, that the valuable fluid had been used for a wedding party.

The Legion suggested revamping the security council into a 10-member body—two each from the United States, Britain and Russia, one each from France and China and two selected by the remaining member-states.

At present, Britain, Russia, France, China and this country are permanent members of the 11-member council with each exercising veto power over any matter of "substance" before that body.

Under the Legion plan, any one of the Big Five would be able to block admission of new UN members or the creation of special investigating commissions unless some question of aggression was involved.

Lausche Hopes Liquor Inquiry Will Be "Fair"

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., July 23—The investigation ordered into state liquor department purchases elicited a statement from former Gov. Frank J. Lausche today that he hoped it would be "objective and impartial."

Commenting on Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's instructions to Atty. Gen. Hugh S. Jenkins to hire investigators to survey the state's high liquor inventory, Lausche continued:

"Simple arithmetic discloses that the value of liquor now on hand and on order is $14,584,456 more than when I left office. The investigators should inquire why, if when I left office the inventory was excessive, it was increased by $14,584,456, or, indeed, by a nickel."

"The investigators also should inquire fully into the so-called slow-moving brands to determine how many of these the department of liquor control in my administration inherited from the preceding Bricker administration and also to what extent the alleged slow-moving brands were augmented by the succeeding Herbert administration."

FORCES CLERK TO OPEN SAFE

Louis Long Threatened with Gun; Amount of Loot Not Yet Known.

A young, nervous appearing armed man held up and robbed the Western Union office located at 213 West Center street at 10:20 p. m. last night after forcing the night manager, Louis Long of the Veterans Housing Unit who was alone at the time to unlock and open the office safe, police reported today.

Mr. Long, who was back on the job for the first night since taking his vacation, described the man as being approximately 6 feet tall with brown hair and eyes. His face was black-marked. He wore a green sport shirt, was hatless and appeared to be in his twenties.

Demands Money
The man entered the office alone and coming to the counter he demanded money. He waited until Mr. Long came from the rear of the office where he had been working and mumbled that he wanted some money. Mr. Long said he didn't quite understand the man's request at first and asked him to repeat it. As he said again "I want some money," Mr. Long noticed the small nickel-plated loaded revolver in his hand and when the robber nodded toward the closed safe, he understood the situation.

Mr. Long backed up and opened the safe gave the contents, the exact sum is not yet known, to the man.

Mr. Long said he told him to return to his former place at the rear of the office and as Mr. Long started back he paused by the phone but the robber cautioned him by saying "don't use that phone for a while." The man then turned and hurried from the office, pausing for just a second to look back at the man in the front window, Mr. Long said.

Alarm Turned In
Night Watchman Arthur Simmons looked in almost immediately after the man departed and asked if there was any trouble.

Mr. Long said the robber must only have been in front of the adjoining theater when Mr. Simmons came to the office. Long told him the office had just been robbed and the thief had gone west on West Center street. Simmons told police he saw the man hurrying down Union street. Police thought he must have had a car parked nearby.

Mr. Long said the man was a complete stranger to him and the entire incident had taken place in a few minutes although it seemed much longer.

To Make Check
Mr. Long has been employed at the Western Union office for a little over a year. Mr. Forest R. Cox of 431 South Prospect street is the Marion manager. The local personnel were waiting for the district manager from Columbus to arrive for a check of the amount stolen to be made. Mr. Long said he didn't know the amount.

U.S. SOLDIER KILLED BY MANILA GUNMAN

By The Associated Press
MANILA, July 23—A U. S. army sergeant was machinegunned to death and a companion was wounded today by unidentified assailants in the Clark field area only a few hours after the lifting of a curfew imposed for a similar assault in the same region less than a month ago.

An army announcement said the shooting occurred on highway No. 3 near San Fernando at almost the exact spot where Capt. and Mrs. Irvin Plough were wounded and their baby killed June 28.

The two soldiers, members of an army telephone repair outfit with the Fourth Signal Service group, were answering a call for assistance from another crew whose trucks had broken down. The army said a band of men in a converted army truck fired on them.

Names of the victims were withheld.

Brig. Gen. Robert C. Oliver Sr., commanding officer at Clark field, imposed new restrictions as a result of the shooting, limiting traffic between San Fernando and Pampanga to official business between 7 p. m. and 8 a. m. The general said he did not intend to reimpose the curfew on the 6,000 or 7,000 men at the base.

No Tenderfeet Live in Boyle's 'Dream World'

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK—Most of the time I am awake I live in my private dream world.

I don't know what your dream world is like, but mine is one place where no tenderfoot is welcome.

It is really a tough joint, where nobody drinks saraparilla and no holds are barred. You or nobody else could get in there with an ordinary police pass.

My dream world is strictly from muscles. Everybody who lives in it has robbed birds' nests or shed blood all over the tomato patch but me. I am always about—but something always intervenes.

Hal Boyle

In my private dream world I am always the about-to-be-a-criminal-who-never-becomes-one. It is a desperate sphere into which I would never dare invite my friends. They are too painstaking for the horrible projects I keep hatching there.

Discovered World Early

I began escaping into my dream world when I first learned that kindergarten was a fraud. At that period in American education they used to keep children from musical mayhem by having us gallop around the room in tune to the piano. Just as I felt convinced the teacher regarded me as the best pacer and prancer of the class, I overheard her tell a visiting instructor from the first grade:

"I can stand everything about this galloping business except that Boyle boy's knees knocking together on the turn. That upsets me."

Immediately I set about dreaming how I could hang that kindly old lady by the neck without being caught. I never got around to doing it, but that incident sent me off into a dream world in which my enemies ever since have suffered terrible phantom drug-binges.

I wouldn't want to give the idea that my dream world is just an arena of revenge. It is much more than that. It is the place where I turn stupendous million-dollar business deals, toss thousands away to charity, and am a modern Robin Hood of Wall Street with a kudos touch.

But the main thing is that in my dream world I am a really tough cookie. Anybody who pushes me around disappears in a reyer or surprised gore. The only trouble is they don't realize it.

Wife Gets Worried

After some five years of married life my good wife, Frances, began to worry about the way I kept skipping off into my dream world whenever the world about me bored me. She said I should see a psychiatrist—or at least go to a Turkish bath.

"I would rather admit a duck-billed platypus to my dream world than a psychiatrist," I said.

But once at a cocktail party I edged up to a psychiatrist and asked:

"Have you ever considered robbing the Queen Elizabeth in mid-ocean, sinking it with all its passengers and escaping on a speedboat?"

He measured me carefully with his eye, then whispered:

"The first thing is to knock out the radio so she can't give an alarm."

Now after 10 years Frances doesn't mind so much when I return into my dream world. Her tolerance began after she asked me curiously:

"Are there any girls in your dream world?"

"No," I told her, "it's no place for women."

"Well, you poor thing, go ahead and enjoy it."

So that's where I live mostly. Right now I'm figuring on how to track the Back of England without leaving fingerprints. Any ideas?

REPORTS ON FARM BUREAU YOUTH LEADER MEETING

Neil Schaeffer Speaks at Meeting of Directors.

A report on the recent youth conference at Ashland college was given by Neil Schaeffer when the Farm Bureau board of directors met Monday night at the Farm Bureau office. The conference was for training of youth leaders, and was in session July 8 through 12. Other young people from Marion County attending were Mary Ellen Hinamon, Genevieve Dobbins, Alice Price, Winona Prettyman, and Jean Rozman. V. F. Schroets, manager of the Farm Bureau cooperative association, reported on a legislative meeting held Friday night at Ashland.

Additional plans were made for the Farm Bureau exhibit at the Marion county fair. Each advisory council is planning a booth. The date for the annual county picnic was set for Sept. 6. The picnic will be held at McKinley park starting at noon. Tentative plans were also discussed for a tour of Farm Bureau installations.

Service Life Insurance Deadline Is Extended

Reinstatement privileges now in effect for National Service Life Insurance have been extended from Aug. 1 to Jan. 1, 1948, Samuel Manning, contact representative in charge of the Marion office of Veterans Administration announced today.

Veterans who have let their wartime policies lapse for more than three months need only certify that their health is as good as at the time of the lapse, pay two monthly premiums and fill out the proper application form.

Aug. 1 still remains the deadline for applying for two other insurance benefits, Mr. Manning said. The first concerns veterans who may be entitled to waiver premium payments because of total disability, the second affects beneficiaries of deceased NSLI policy holders who became eligible, before death, for waiver of premiums but never applied. Forms and assistance in applying for these benefits are available at the local office, 196 South Main street.

Mothers of War Dead

Favored in House Bill

WASHINGTON, July 23—The house has passed a bill to give government job preference to widowed mothers of servicemen who were killed or totally disabled while on duty.

The measure, which now goes to the senate, would give the mothers 10 points in addition to their earned civil service ratings for jobs.

The preference would apply to certification for appointment to federal jobs, to appointment to reinstatement and reemployment and to retention of jobs.

The same preference is now given to unmarried widows of veterans and to widows of disabled veterans.

A civil service commission official told a reporter the mothers would not be entitled to take civil service jobs away from current federal job holders but would simply be "given an edge in getting a government job and in keeping it."

Amateur Weather Detectives "Track Down" Thunderstorms

The Associated Press — Tracking the business of amateur weather forecasters is the knowledge of the Franklin Institute.

The Amateur Weather Forecasters of America who send observations of thunderstorms to the Franklin Institute, Dr. David Ludlum, executive director of meteorology at the Franklin Institute.

Dr. Ludlum, "are the eyes and ears of the club."

Equipment, some 1-

200 weather followers throughout the United States and as far away as China spot a thunderstorm, note the time of the first rumble and the last, the time and direction of lightning, direction and maximum speed of the wind and, if rain follows the time of its beginning and end. Temperature is noted and if hail stones accompany the storm, the chunks of ice are measured for size.

Furnish Postcards

The weather spotters are furnished postcards on which they note their observations. The cards, addressed to "Thunder and Lightning" pour in daily to Dr. Ludlum at the Franklin Institute.

"Our amateurs represent all ages from 10 to 89 and some of our best members are doctors, lawyers and former members of the army and navy. We even have an undertaker," Ludlum said.

The purpose of the mass weather sleuthing project, Ludlum explained, is to supplement U. S. weather bureau studies, to add to general knowledge of climate for scientists, businessmen, residents and the general public and to tie in with radar projects of the navy, army and the weather bureau.

Ludlum, born in East Orange, N. J., has been studying weather since he was 12 years old. He was 14 when he made a forecast that put him in send as a "weather prophet." An outdoor wedding was scheduled in his neighborhood and the rain clouds gathered. Young Ludlum scanned the storm clouds, noted the wind shift and predicted confidently, "no rain today."

His prediction was right and the crowd-ups hailed him as their amateur weather prognosticator.

Ludlum, who earns his living by making weather instruments, started the Amateur Weathermen of America with the help of Armand Spitz, former associate director of meteorology at Franklin Institute, in March, 1936.

Enrolls Hundreds

This summer he has enrolled hundreds of youthful members in summer camps. When school bells toll this fall he will take the project into high schools and junior highs. Local clubs are forming throughout the country and former army and navy weather service personnel are taking the leadership in local organizations.

New Candy Store Opened in Marion

A nickname given Mrs. Bernard Butterworth by co-workers in a Columbus candy store several years ago is now the official name of a candy store she and her husband opened yesterday at 130 South Main street.

Mrs. Butterworth decided then, that if she ever went into the candy making business her products would be known as Annie Laurie candies. The name is from a love song written by the Scotch composer William Douglas. Although proclaiming his love for a real Annie Laurie, Douglas was never able to persuade her to become his bride.

The candies, which are assorted chocolates, have been made in Marion by Mrs. Butterworth at 413 Oak street for the past three years and distributed to candy stores in Marion and vicinity. The candies are now made in rooms to the rear of the sales room and will continue to be distributed in other stores.

Experience is the best teacher!

Yes, experience during the wartime cigarette shortage — smoking and comparing many different brands — taught millions the big differences in cigarette quality

Remember?

When you stood in line to get cigarettes? It was no fun, that wartime shortage; but it was a revealing experience to smokers everywhere. And, incidentally, it was one of the biggest comparison tests in cigarette history.

Second Choices

It didn't matter much what brand you asked for in those days of wartime scarcities—you took whatever brand was available. People smoked more different brands of cigarettes than they would normally try in a lifetime.

Choice of Experience

Whether they intended to or not, people compared the many different brands they smoked during that shortage. That's the experience out of which so many people learned that Camels suit them best.

That's why
MORE PEOPLE ARE SMOKING CAMELS than ever before!

Your "T-ZONE" will tell you...
T FOR TASTE...
T FOR THROAT...
That's your proving ground for any cigarette. See if Camels don't suit your "T-ZONE" to a "T"

He met "God" in the morning, When His Day was at its best; And His Presence came like sunrise With a glory in his breast.

All day long his Presence lingered, All day long He stayed with me; And we sailed in perfect calmness O'er a very troubled sea.

Other ships were blown and battered, Other ships were sore distressed; But the winds that seemed to drive them, Brought to us both peace and rest.

Then I thought of other mornings, When a keen remorse of mind, When I, too, had loosed the moorings, With the Presence left behind.

So I think he knew the secret, Learned from many a troubled way, You must seek Him in the morning.

If you want Him through the day, Charles W. Sidenstricker Sr. 102½ East Center.

TORRENTIAL RAINS FLOOD ERIE, PA.

By The Associated Press

ERIE, Pa., July 23—A state of emergency existed in this industrial town of 135,000 today in the wake of torrential rains that flooded the streets, leaving 75 families homeless and causing damage estimated at $1,000,000. The 75 Negro families evacuated yesterday from the Franklin Terrace housing project on the east side of town were housed temporarily in the City Hall annex. Red Cross officials said they were seeking a schoolhouse in which to settle the families until their homes can be put in order. Many of the evacuees swam to safety through 15 feet of water while others paddled to land in canoes and rowboats.

Ten hours of incessant, pounding rains from 9:12 a. m. to 8 p. m. yesterday stimulated flood conditions not seen here since 1913 when Mill creek overflowed and 30 persons lost their lives.

The freak flood, weather bureau officials emphasized, was caused entirely by the unprecedented rainfall which piled up 9.03 inches to break all records for any 24-hour period. The flood was concentrated in the Erie area with the east side sections hardest hit. Heavy rain to three feet of water flooded French street, one of the thoroughfares, although street was dry.

Telephone service was in many parts of the city and the power was unaffected. Damage to business establishments and homes was estimated by various Red Cross and disaster committee figures at about $1,000,000.

COLUMBUS, O., July 23—All state liquor stores and agencies within a two-mile radius of county fairs and agricultural exhibitions this summer must close for the duration of the fair, it was disclosed yesterday. An order to that effect was issued last Thursday by Harry E. Hawley, assistant to the state liquor director. The order is effective until Sept. 8 when repeal of an old law prohibiting liquor sales within this radius of a fair becomes operative.

Ohio C. of C. Files Summary Of City, County Expenditures

Members of the Marion Chamber of Commerce have received copies of two booklets prepared by the local government tax service of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce including summaries of fiscal operations of Marion county and the city of Marion. The purpose of the booklets, according to a letter accompanying them, is to provide interested citizens with information in respect to taxation development and comparisons with other units of government similarly situated. Numerous tables in the booklets compare financial operations of the city and county with other areas in Ohio of the same population level.
The city of Marion, whose population is listed as 30,817 (1940 census) in the tables, is compared with other cities, including: Norwood, 34,010; Newark, 31,487; Middletown, 31,220; Massillon, 26,644; Elyria, 25,120; and Sandusky 24,874.
The commentary commends the city of Marion on two points, the fact that the general debt has been voted outside the 10-mill taxation limit and the comparatively low amount spent on various functions of government. "In almost every instance," the commentary states, "Marion spent considerably less for the various functions of government than most of the cities. This shows rigid economy measures must have been taken and an honest effort made to hold expenditures well within income."

Comparison of Marion city expenditures with those of cities of comparable size in the state shows that here the increase has been only 7.5 per cent in the past seven years, while in other cities increases have ranged from 34.7 in Sandusky to 69.2 per cent in Norwood. The favorable showing, according to the booklet, is caused by bookkeeping which accounted for hospital transactions through the general fund in 1940, and then changed the hospital to a special fund in 1946. If the hospital is eliminated from the 1940 total, the increase amounts to 41.5.

Other Comparisons
Other tables show expenditures for various city departments. Marion was high in expenditures for the safety department which here is combined with the service department, $6,261.55 having been spent in 1946, compared with a high of $7,187.56 in Norwood and a low of $4,587.09 in Elyria. On the other hand, Marion spent next-to-the-lowest figure on its police department, $68,600.79 compared to $114,759.40 in Middletown, the highest figure, and $36,044.08 in Sandusky, the lowest. The city spent a relatively high amount on the fire department during 1946, $89,814.69. The highest figure of the same population group was $99,622.20 in Middletown, and the lowest was $60,591 in Massillon.

Expenditures for the board of health by the city were listed for 1946 as $3,370.10, compared to a high of $24,722.05 in Sandusky. Marion's expenditure was the lowest of the group. Marion also was low in expenditures for recreational facilities, the $5,074.45 listed comparing with a low of $4,455.60 in Norwood and a high of $48,591.29 in Sandusky.

County Expenditures
Tables in the booklet covering county expenditures are prepared in a similar manner to those covering the city, the county being compared to others in the state of about the same population. Marion county's population is listed as 44,898 (1940 census) in the tables. Other counties with which it is compared and their populations are: Lawrence, 46,705; Portage, 46,660; Athens, 46,166;

Maybe It Was MY Fault!

Daddy has told me a hundred times about running into the street, and I guess Mommy even more than that. But I forgot... and there was your car, right on top of me, it seemed like, and I was too scared to even move. Mommy says I screamed, but I don't even remember that.

I guess we don't remember very well. I guess maybe we're pretty careless... somehow or other, kids just don't have the sense that grown-ups have... or should have.

Perhaps you'll want to remember that, next time you drive your car. Perhaps you'll think of me... and all the other kids... be old enough and careful enough to kind of make up for our foolishness.

And don't worry... the doctor says I'll probably be all right... except perhaps for that big old scar on my forehead....

Lace Curtain
COMMUNIST snoopers in the United States must not be alarmed because Victor Kravchenko, a former comrade, has told the house committee on un-American activities that every Russian representative who comes here is under orders to do dirty work.
Kravchenko's warning will not be heeded. The lace curtain, not the iron curtain, will continue to be the symbol of United States security. This government will not throw out any Soviet representatives, for fear of making the Kremlin even harder to handle than it is now.
The United States has nothing to hide. Its secrets all will be shared, including the manufacture of the atomic bomb, under certain conditions. So will its knowledge of industrial processes and its materials. This will be done in the firm belief that reciprocity eventually will be forthcoming; that the only way to tame the Russian bear is to feed it candy; that the United States isn't mad at anybody, therefore nobody has any legitimate grievance against the United States.
No matter what the Russian representatives may do in violation of their hospitality, the United States will hold them innocent until they're proved guilty. It's done the other way in Russia, but the United States doesn't want to be like Russia.

Exit Cohen
RESIGNATION of Benjamin V. Cohen as state department counselor removes from public life the last of the original New Deal brain trusters. He was one of that dauntless crew which included "Henry the Morgue" and "Tommy the Cork," but unfortunately his name didn't lend itself to the affectionate diminutive. After the resignation of Rexford G. Tugwell, the Cohen-Corcoran combination became the alliterative target at which many a New Deal blast was fired.
One of Harvard law school's bright young men who played such an important part in the early New Deal, Cohen was a trusted lieutenant of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Unlike some of his contemporaries of the 1930's, he never had a major disagreement with the administration, hence never retired to his tent to sulk or indite petulant memoirs.
The Cohen influence has left its mark on many phases of government, for he was President Roosevelt's roving emissary. Under President Truman he has been principally occupied with foreign affairs and is an ardent advocate of the most generous help for Europe.
Ben Cohen is leaving the halls of government but he won't soon be forgotten. He was a symbol of a theory of government too long to sink into oblivion overnight.

Trouble in Indonesia
WAR has broken out in Java after a period during which it seemed the Dutch and Indonesians had reconciled their differences. The explosive issue is inclusion of the Dutch troops in the constabulary during a transition period while a native government takes charge. Having offered their good offices as mediators, the British may be able to halt hostilities, for it is a war which may do vast damage to both sides.
The Dutch, seeing their colonial empire disintegrating, might well look to the British situation in the Far East. The British know the day of colonial empires and native exploitation is over and have made great concessions in India. The Dutch have conceded eventual autonomy for Indonesia, but fear their investments will be jeopardized if they do not maintain police power for the present.
The Javanese have indicated a willingness to sit down at the conference table. Surely the Dutch, with their fine record as colonizers and administrators, will agree to submit this dispute to arbitration.

More Bona and More Fide
THE MOST interesting reaction in the wake of the Taft-Hartley act is the rush of union spokesmen to line up behind "bona fide collective bargaining." This, the public is told, will be their way of destroying the new law. They will ignore it. That is, they will rely on direct dealing—"bona fide collective bargaining"—instead of going through NLRB.
This is going to be something to see, this bona fide version, because for more than a decade the same spokesmen have been telling the public the Wagner act, which set up NLRB as an enforcement agency, had to be kept on the books without so much as changing a comma—to preserve "bona fide collective bargaining." To show their contempt for the Taft-Hartley act, which aimed to equalize some of the circumstances of bona fide collective bargaining, the union spokesmen are going to switch from bona fide collective bargaining to bona fide collective bargaining. The Wagner act apparently is in no better repute now than the Taft-Hartley act.

News Behind the News

Inflationary Effect of Coal Wage Not Fully Discussed
WASHINGTON, July 23—A full-fledged discussion of the inflationary possibilities of the new coal agreement was stopped by a statement of George Humphrey, the Pittsburgh coal operator, to the Senate economic committee. The statement, which was read by Sen. Rep. Hartley from the floor, was a direct blow to the labor bill. Humphrey, in an economic free-for-all, in fact, it quivered the whole volatile matter for the most part.
The Humphrey position was little reported amid other developments, and not made entirely clear in some phases. For instance, he claimed the wage increase was only $1.20 a day, whereas the Lewis people calculated for the press it would run above $3 a day. $30 bonus will be broken in arguing about this, however, Humphrey merely figured what a losing agreement (for him) might cost under the best possible circumstances. Lewis was figuring for his miners what he had won, from assumptions, nine favorable to his viewpoint.
You know you can easily obtain an opposing version of an economic argument from several eyes witnesses. The coal settlement was no accident, of course. But from the same set of circumstances, Mr. Humphrey got one story and Lewis another. This involved no dispute about contract, but has caused considerable confusion. Humphrey figured the take-home pay of a miner from 8 hours work a day would increase $1.20, and it does.
Disagree On Results
But he did not figure (perhaps could not), although he plainly mentioned it in his testimony, that the settlement means a day less of work a week and an hour less of work each day. In short, the miner would make only $1.20 a day more from his work but if you would figure how much more

"Open House" in Washington
By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON, D. C., is planning to accommodate 2,000,000 visitors between now and Jan. 1, 1943.
The Greater National Capital Committee—the convention and tourist bureau of the Washington Board of Trade—says this is a conservative figure. The city has welcomed an average of 5,000,000 visitors a year, dropping something like 500,000,000 annually into the tills of merchants, the past two or three years.
The city has taken on conventions only since the last half of 1946, refusing any such scheduled meetings during the war years.
It is estimated that 1950 will be a peak convention year. There will be much ado in celebrating the 150th anniversary of the government's location in the city.

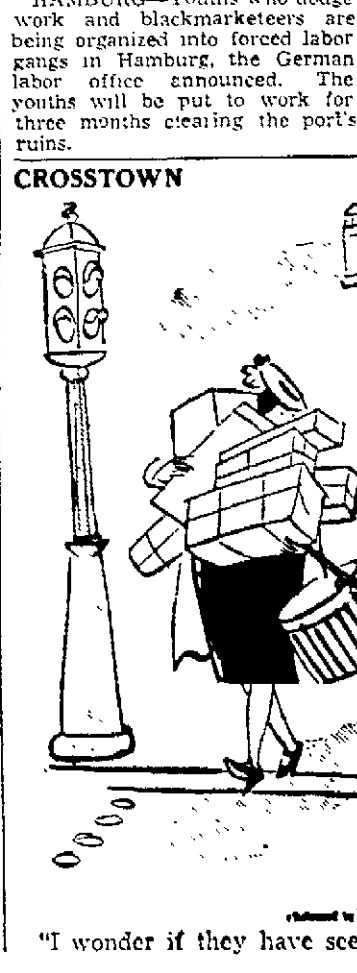

"Hear That Train Blow!"
WHEN Casey Jones piloted his iron horse across the countryside folks knew who was at the throttle. Casey made his whistle sound like the call of the whippoorwill.
An engineer could really express himself on the old-style locomotive with the whistle blown directly by hand. Some had special ways of blowing their whistles as they approached their homes. Others signified what kind of a lun they'd had. Some folks used to swear they could tell by the way the engineer blew whether he had enjoyed his breakfast.
But the art of "quilling," or "making her talk," went out with electric and diesel locomotives, with their shrill horns and pneumatic whistles.
Now most locomotives "talk" the same language. About the only variation you get from the whistle is making it shrill or soft-pedaling it.

World Bank's Bond Sale
By MARK SULLIVAN
WASHINGTON, July 23—A coincidence that took place last week throws light on the contending tides of our time. It was a case of a deep trend toward normal getting powerfully under way, but obscured by overhanging aftermath of the abnormal conditions created by the war.
Much that went on during the week in Washington and at Paris was concerned with restoring Europe economically, as called for by the Marshall plan and otherwise. This was a major concern of congress. There were calculations of the cost of our treasury, some estimates running as high as several billion dollars a year. There was grave questioning whether our taxpayers could or would or ought to pay so great an amount. Need for money for this purpose was one reason President Truman vetoed the tax reduction bill.
While all this disturbed congress and composed much of the news coming out of Washington, something went on that was less generally noticed. Some hundreds of thousands of American citizens acting either directly or indirectly through banks, insurance companies and other institutions, put up a quarter billion dollars for reconstruction abroad. They did this, not as taxpayers but as private business men and investors engaged in private enterprise for profit. The transactions were in the form of secured loans to be repaid at 3 per cent interest.
Made Through World Bank
This quarter-billion-dollar grant by private American citizens for reconstruction abroad was made through the World bank. This bank was set up in 1944, as a non-profit public international institution for reconstruction abroad and for revival of international trade. At the invitation of the United States, 44 countries met at Bretton Woods, N. H. Each undertook to contribute to the capital of the bank in proportion to its size and wealth. The bank is empowered to sell bonds to the public, out of the proceeds of which it makes loans to industries and institutions abroad carefully selected for their ability to repay, the funds to be used for productive purposes.
The sale of a quarter billion dollars of bonds last week was the first the World bank has made. The bonds were eagerly bought by banks, insurance companies, and other institutions as well as individuals. There were sales in every state except New Mexico and Wyoming, where technicalities of

Senators "Rush" To End Term But No Sweat Stains Brows

By FREDERICK C. OTTMAN
United Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 23—I have spent a long day watching a group of senators "rushing"—and do not ignore the acquiescence by Saturday night. No sweat did I notice on their brows in fact, talking about as usual with only a moderate amount of arm waving, table banging, and floor stamping. I knew (a rare tribal expression) I was merely the senator's "yes" man. I was saying "yes" to the committee men (following the "yes" man) who were in charge of the "rush" to end the term of the senators. This is nothing new. Time and time again the same thing has happened during the last few years.

What's the Name?

Somebody wanted to know the name of the "rush" to end the term of the senators. The name of the "rush" to end the term of the senators is "rush".

But they changed it to the "rush" to end the term of the senators. The name of the "rush" to end the term of the senators is "rush".

CLARK ASKED TO O.K. VOTE FRAUD INQUIRY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 23—Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) said today that "in justice to himself" Attorney General Clark ought to help clear the way for a senatorial investigation into his handling of the Kansas City vote fraud charges.

Ferguson's "all for a break in the solid Democratic opposition" which has stalled senate action on a pending inquiry resolution came on top of these other developments in the controversy:

1. Senator Hatch (D-NM) labeled as "politics" a charge by Republican National Chairman Carroll Reece that the opposition party's "frenzied efforts" to prevent an inquiry offer "conclusive evidence of Democrat desperation on the eve of the 1948 presidential campaign."

2. Senator Langer (R-ND) defended Clark's action in the Kansas City case, shouting to the senate that "if a federal Gestapo from Washington runs elections, we will soon have the same control over elections as they have in foreign countries."

3. With the GOP leadership still stymied in its efforts to get senate action on the inquiry resolution sponsored by Senator Kem (R-Mo), Rep. Ploeser (R-Mo) stood ready to introduce a similar proposal in the house where republican control is such that it could force speedy action.

Kem has sought a special committee investigation of Clark's order for a preliminary inquiry into vote buying charges in the 1946 Democratic primary in which Enos A. Axtell won the Fifth Missouri district congressional nomination. Axtell, supported by President Truman, later was defeated by Rep. Albert Reeves Jr., a Republican.

Clark first reported no evidence was found of federal law violations. Later he appointed a special prosecutor who obtained the indictment of five persons.

Ferguson told a reporter this subsequent action "indicated there was something there all the time and the attorney general should have known it."

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD" DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder. Although they may seem a mild ailment, especially when not giving any pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves; instead, they are likely if neglected to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting, predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to leave any time from work or other duties. Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free. Write for references and booklet "What Your Physicians May."

Eager Immigrants To Australia Jump Gun on Officialdom

By The Associated Press

SYDNEY, July 23—Hundreds of enthusiastic immigrants, too keen on a new life in a new country to wait for government-sponsored schemes, have come to Australia and New Zealand under their own steam in the last few months.

More are arriving every week, principally from the United Kingdom, but also from British dominions, Europe, India, and the United States.

Faced with the prospect of having to wait 18 months or two years for a steamer passage on an official immigrant ship, the new arrivals are coming on aircraft, liners and freighters, or as crew members of vessels which they desert.

(Counsel) H. R. C. Wilde for the New Zealand shipping company told Magistrate J. L. Stout in Wellington recently that 100 men a month were appearing before New Zealand courts on charges of deserting their ships. Magistrate Stout remarked: "A statute, 30 years old, is inadequate to meet the circumstances when men are coming in at the rate of 1,200 a year and being awarded citizenship of the country at the price of a month in jail at the expense of the state."

Many of the immigrants have traveled from Britain across the Atlantic to North America, and then across the Pacific by aircraft or ship. These immigrants include several whole families.

Comparatively few have experienced up to difficulty in finding accommodation in either Australia or New Zealand. A few, including some British boys of ex-servicemen, have decided to return to the United Kingdom. One or two have remained only two weeks before buying a ticket back to Britain.

Investigation Started Of Attack on Student

Special to The Star
DELAWARE, July 23 — Prosecutor Clyde Lewis and Sheriff Earl Fravel started an investigation yesterday of the attack made on Robert Kramer, Ohio Wesleyan University student, Monday as he returned from taking his girl friend to her home.

Fravel said the youth apparently had been struck several times on the back of the head and in the face. Kramer who was reported to be in fairly good condition at the Jane M. Case hospital here, was unable to give any more information about his assailants. He told of seeing a car pass several times he was walking home with the girl. It was the same car that carried the men that stopped him later, he told the sheriff. Kramer said Monday that one of the men in the car asked what he was doing with "his girl." It was the first time he had dated the girl, Kramer said.

THE NATION TODAY

National Science Foundation's Fate Now Left Up To Truman

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, July 23—Just before quitting for 1947, congress has voted for a national science foundation.

Now it's up to the President to sign it into law or veto it.

This is the idea behind the foundation:

1. To start or help basic research in many fields, such as finding the cause and cure of cancer. (The foundation would not give treatments.)
2. To build up the number of scientists, especially by helping educate young people with scientific minds.
3. To provide for the exchange of information on work being done.

It could use government money to start special research jobs in a college where scientists already were working on cancer.

But the foundation couldn't order any scientist to do any certain kind of work.

Yet, through the exchange of information on work being done, it could save duplicating one another's work.

How much would all this cost? Scientists say about $25,000,000 a year, at least in the beginning.

But congress, although it voted to create the foundation, hasn't voted money to start it working. If the President signs it into law, he'll have to find the money.

Not Likely This Year

It isn't likely to do so this year. So what happens to the foundation if the President signs it into law and there's no money for it to go to work?

He can give it money, say a couple of hundred thousand dollars, out of a special fund. That would help it set up shop between now and 1948.

That would give the foundation time to work out a program and decide exactly how much money to ask for when congress returns in 1948.

But the 24-man board, appointed by the President, must be approved by the senate. What happens when the senate goes home this week?

The President can appoint a temporary board to serve until 1948 when the senate returns and can vote on the board members.

STREET CAR BLASTED BY LIGHTNING SHAFT

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, July 23 — A shaft of lightning which blasted a gaping hole through the top of a crowded trolley car during the height of the traffic rush hour yesterday injured 18 persons, two seriously.

Glance-blinded passengers scattered and tried to battle their way out of the smoke-filled car. Two women were trampled.

Jacob Boninoff, 38, who suffered second degree burns on the face and head, and W. T. Plough, 56, severely burned on hands and face, were detained at Mercy hospital. Other injured persons were released after treatment.

Plough said he saw a "shaft of fire about 12 inches deep" flash through the car, adding:

"There was thick smoke and the fumes smelled like sulphur. The heat was like a blow torch."

The car was struck at Kirkpatrick street and Center avenue, near downtown Pittsburgh.

13-Yr.-Old's Dream Comes True — He'll Pilot Top NYC Flyer

By The Associated Press

ELYNIA, July 23 — A dream came true today for 13-year-old Tommy Sigworth.

He'll be at the throttle of the New York Central's Chicago-Tokyo Special, when it roars past his farm home.

Tommy will be the guest of the engineer who invited him to take a 100-mile ride in the cab of the big engine.

For nine years — day and night — Tommy greeted trains passing his home on their daily run. And every day he dreamed of the time when he would pilot a speeding locomotive over the same route.

In the daytime he waved his greeting from the porch of his home. At night he blinked signal lights installed in his bedroom by his father, John Sigworth. Engineers answered his greeting with two blasts from the whistle.

Today, as a reward for his faithfulness, New York Central officials took Tommy to Toledo, the start of his 100-mile run. When the train neared his home, he will take the throttle and give out with two blasts on the whistle just the way he did in his dreams.

Study of Soil Methods Set

Open House Arranged for August by Union County District.

A series of open house and method demonstrations on terracing and waterway construction during August, to be held on the farms of cooperators with the Union Soil Conservation District, was arranged Tuesday night by the district board of supervisors at a meeting in the district office in the postoffice building at Marysville.

Ross Dodd, U. S. Soil Conservation Service conservation aid for the district, will be in charge.

Following a report by Charles G. Phillips, U. S. Soil Conservation Service farm planner for the district, on the success of a soil structure study open house with a group of York township applicants for assistance, the board voted to conduct similar sessions with other groups that have applied for assistance in applying soil and water conservation practices on their farms.

Watt Treese and Shade Watkins were elected representative and alternate, respectively, to the Mississippi Valley association training school for supervisors Sept. 4-6 at Leesville lake in Carroll county, O.

The board approved a soil and water conservation plan prepared by Messrs. Schrote, in cooperation with U. S. Soil Conservation Service technicians assigned to the district, for his farm in Jackson township. Approval was given the application for assistance made by Chris J. Boeger, chairman of the board, for additional farmsteads in Darby township. Mr. Boeger already is operating under a plan prepared for his home farm in Paris township.

Frank Greenstein, county agent, was asked to discuss scoring points at the next meeting, Aug. 12, following action by the board to participate in the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. contest to recognize governing bodies of Soil Conservation Districts and farmers performing outstanding soil conservation work from July 1, 1947, to June 30, 1948.

Time Payment Decision Due

Truman Must Act as Congress Virtually Kills Bill To Extend Limits.

WASHINGTON, July 23—Denied specific peacetime authority to regulate time payment buying, President Truman today faces a decision on when to lift present credit restraints on such items as automobiles, refrigerators and radios.

The President had recommended that the controls—imposed by wartime executive order—be continued for a while with the approval of congress as a curb against inflation.

But the house instead approved a bill late yesterday to end such controls immediately. The voice vote action rejected a senate-approved measure to continue modified credit restraints to Dec. 31. Neither bill appeared likely to get any further.

Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich.) of the house banking committee told reporters after the house vote: "It is now up to the President to get rid of the credit controls, as he said he would do if he did not get specific authority from congress. It is certain the house will not authorize such regulations. The senate bill is dead."

Known as the federal reserve board's "regulation W," the credit curbs were imposed early in the war under the trading with the enemy act. Because that World War I statute carries no specific time limit, Mr. Truman could, if he chose, keep the restraints in force so long as the house bill did not become law.

The controls now in force require one-third down payments, with installments running no longer than 15 months, on automobiles, stoves, mechanical dishwashers, fridges, refrigerators, washing machines, room unit air conditioners, radios, phonographs, sewing machines and vacuum cleaners. A 20 per cent down payment, with installments limited to 15 months, is required for furniture and rugs.

8 KILLED IN BLAST OF BERLIN BUILDING

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, July 23—A bomb explosion demolished two stories of Berlin traffic police headquarters in the Russian zone today, and an official reported from the scene that eight persons were killed and four were injured.

An official investigator said the blast which shattered the north wing of the yellow brick structure was caused by a bomb. Police central headquarters earlier had attributed it to an accidental detonation in the ammunition room.

The blast was in the office of Heinrich Kaniz, chief of traffic police and second ranking officer in the Berlin police department. He was not in the office when Herr Emrich, chief of the personnel bureau.

The linking of Kaniz's name with the explosion raised a possibility of political implications. Kaniz, a member of the anti-Communist Social Democratic party (SPD) was first in line to succeed Police President Paul Markgraf, who belongs to the Unity Party (SED), and is a Russian appointee.

The blast was the second incident in a Berlin police building in the Russian sector in 24 hours. Yesterday, fire broke out in the state opera building.

Says College Head Is Asked To Resign

By The Associated Press

MARIETTA, O., July 23—A member of the board of trustees of century-old Marietta college, who asked that his name be withdrawn, said today President Wilmer Allison Shimer had been asked to resign.

The resignation request, this trustee said, was contained in a registered letter sent about two weeks ago.

He did not explain the reasons for the purported action.

President Shimer said the informant, had wired from Canada, where he is honeymooning, that he would appear before the board "the latter part of this week."

The trustee said the board always had considered President Shimer "a good administrator."

President Shimer, who was installed as 11th president of Marietta college in 1945, was married last June 21 to the institution's former dean of women, Miss Dorothy Blair.

His first wife, the former Miss Edith Richmond, won a divorce in Franklin county in July, 1946. She charged "gross neglect."

The Marietta president came to the college after serving as a lieutenant in the navy during the war. Before the war, he was dean of men at Bucknell university and assistant secretary of the national Phi Beta Kappa organization. He once taught at Ohio State university.

INDIA OR AUSTRALIA TO PROTEST JAVA WAR

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 23—Well-informed diplomatic sources said today that either India or Australia might ask the United Nations to intervene in the dispute between The Netherlands and the Indonesian republic.

The complaining nation presumably would charge that the Indonesian fighting constituted a threat to world peace, these sources said.

Both India and Australia, they said, have a "close interest" in the situation in Indonesia.

the council "adequate powers," the proposal urged these three points:

►Creation of an atomic development authority responsible to the council for rigid control of atomic weapons and all other means of mass destruction.

►Power for the council to limit the total annual output of heavy armament all over the world.

►Maintenance of a staff of inspectors with full rights and access to arms production, information on troop concentrations, industrial resources and activities.

Richwood Jeweler Swims Ashore As Auto Hits River

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, July 23—Cool, calm and wet, P. R. Adams of Richwood climbed out the window of his automobile and swam ashore after the car left the road and plunged to the bottom of the Scioto river at 10 a. m. Monday on highway 257 near Butts corners in Delaware county.

Adams, a jeweler in Richwood, was driving about 40 miles per hour and his car began to skid when he approached an S-curve. Realizing he must leave the road, he had to decide between hitting a tree, a culvert, a post or going in the river and he quickly chose the river.

Adams told the Delaware county sheriff and others that there was "nothing to it." He said that he just crawled out the front window as the car was going down.

The car was taken from the river by Charles Shively and a group of workers who refused the statement of Adams about being "nothing to it." Shively said "He's the first one I've seen who made his way out. I never saw a man so cool about it as this one." After hitting the water the car overturned and went down with the wheels up.

Shively's workers dragged the river for two hours before they located the car with their hooks. They were aided by caretakers employed by the city of Columbus, who described the contour of the river bottom. The car had gone over a steep underbank several feet from the river.

Yvonne Thomas, 19, a Marine on leave, drove into the river and fastened the hook to the car's drive shaft to enable the men to pull it from the water. Adams was enroute to Columbus when the accident happened.

BRITISH SHIP SUNK IN PALESTINE HARBOR

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, July 23—Official sources reported today that the British ship Empire Lifeguard had been sunk in Haifa harbor, presumably by saboteurs, shortly after disembarking 261 legal Jewish immigrants transported to the Holy Land from detention camps on Cyprus.

Advices from Haifa said that fire had broken out aboard the Empire Lifeguard shortly after she arrived in the harbor, and that the immigrants had been hurried ashore.

Official sources said that 40 or 50 immigrants still were aboard the vessel when the explosion which preceded the fire occurred, but none was injured.

The Jews disembarked from her today were part of the regular monthly quota given entry certificates after being detained at Cyprus.

A continuing wave of violence, apparently fanned by the recent deportation of 4,500 Jewish immigrants intercepted while trying to enter Palestine aboard the steamer President Warfield, meanwhile resulted in serious injury to four more British soldiers in Haifa.

TWO BOYS DIE IN CHAIR FOR SLAYING EMPLOYER

By The United Press

WOODVILLE, Miss., July 23—Two teen-aged Negro boys who said "we're going to meet God" were executed in Mississippi's portable electric chair, before dawn today for killing their white employer more than a year ago.

Fifteen-year-old James Lewis went to his death first to give "further punishment" to 16-year-old Charles Trudell who fired the shot that killed Harry McKee, a farmer and sawmill operator. The crime netted the boys $64.

It was Father Pat Moran, kindly Catholic chaplain, who suggested that the older boy go last. Sheriff Richard Whitaker had left it to the priest to decide.

The case attracted wide attention when an ailing west coast woman, Mrs. Blanche Meiers of Oakland, Calif., made a cross-

Roast Turkey Out, Say Poultrymen, It's Turkey Steaks Now

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 23—Turkey steaks with all the trappings of beef sirloins will replace the traditional roasted bird on the American dinner table if the National Turkey Federation has its way.

First public showing of what federation members call a "rare delicacy" will be made today at the international baby chick association and poultry and egg national board convention.

Turkey steaks are a development of the research division of the Texas A. and M. college and Dr. F. Z. Beamblossom, who will demonstrate how to feed the turkey meat into a grinder from which it emerges as four-to-six-ounce steaks.

Industry members say the new steaks will permit turkey growers to concentrate on the production of birds weighing from 25 to 40 pounds, economical as to production costs but too large for the average American oven.

Mrs. Meiers made a personal appeal to Gov. Fielding L. Wright in his chambers at Jackson, Miss., saying that "boys so young could not be bad." Reportedly ill of cancer, Mrs. Meiers said that she wanted to "perform one final important act before I meet God."

Rapid Progress Reported in Ohio Public Service Construction Program Linking Marion Division with Statewide System

The Ohio Public Service Co. today reported rapid progress in the construction of a new 60,000 KW station at Marion, which is to be the first of a series of new stations to be built in the state.

Officials of the Marion project, officials said, will tie in this station with the company's existing lines in other sections of the state, thus greatly increasing the amount of electric current available to the Marion division.

Improvements in the company's interconnected system of the new station at Marion which is to be named the "C. C. Roberts Substation" in honor of the former president now deceased, of The Marion Reserve Power Co. before its incorporation with the Ohio Public Service Co.

"We of O.P.S. have great confidence in the future growth and development of the north-central area of Ohio served by the Ohio Public Service Co."

"When we announced our five-year $37,000,000 construction program last year, we stated that large industries found it most advantageous to locate in communities not exceeding 100,000 in population. The fact still holds. No community served by this company reaches that figure."

"Our increases in generating facilities, in transmission lines, sub-stations, and distribution systems will provide adequate, efficient, constant service for years to come. Electric power is now and always will be essential to the growth of any community."

The Ohio Public Service Co. is preparing now for the electric demands of the future. Its property is directly related to that of the communities and farm it serves. It is confident that the possibilities for development in the territory it serves are among the best in the world, and is staking more than $37,000,000 on that conviction."

Details Given

The announcement gave a detailed description of the construction program at the various generating stations.

At the principal station, the R. E. Burger, near Bellare, construction to double the 60,000 KW capacity began in 1945 is about complete. Delays in shipment of the turbo generator, it was stated, is the only thing standing in the way of immediate completion. Delivery is promised by August. The new unit will be in operation before the end of the year.

At Lorain, O., the company's Edgewater station also will have a 60,000 KW addition. Field work for this unit was begun in March of this year. New intake and discharge waterways and an addition to the building are to be constructed, and two 350,000 pounds-of-steam-per-hour boilers.

as in the Burger station, are to be installed along with the 60,000 KW turbine.

A novel innovation will take place at the Lorain station. Critical shortages of bricklayers and materials usually used in such construction make it necessary to resort to use of other materials to prevent delay. Instead of brick, therefore, the building will be covered with a new type of prefabricated wall panels giving an aluminum appearance to the exterior.

Mansfield Project

At the Meico station at Mansfield, plans are being formulated for the installation of water settling tanks. This will provide the boiler plant with a better supply of feed water. Work on the foundations will begin this summer, it was stated.

In Warren the Mahoning station, renovated in 1941, will be further modernized by the installation of one boiler of 125,000 pounds-of-steam-per-hour capacity, replacing two old boilers put in operation in 1918.

OHIO BOARD PLEDGES HIKED BOTTOM WAGE

COLUMBUS, O., July 23 — Ohio's new nine-member minimum wage board stood pledged today to "modify" the state's 10-year mandatory order setting a floor of between 13 and 21 cents an hour pay for women and minors employed by hotels and restaurants.

All signs to an upward revision of the minimum wage rates, based on the job and the population of the community.

The panel voted unanimously yesterday to change the scale following criticism by officials of the Ohio Hotels and Restaurant associations of the three women members representing the public.

State Industrial Relations Director William J. Rogers contended that criticism of Miss Annie Lockett of Springfield, chairman of the board, Miss Alma Herber, professor of economics at Ohio State university, and Miss Helen Phelan, Cleveland club and churchwoman, was "unwarranted and out of order."

He directed his remarks at Hershey Mowrey, executive secretary of the Hotel association, and Robert R. Williams, executive vice president of the Restaurant association, who attended the meeting after writing Rogers protesting the three women appointments.

Williams wrote Rogers Monday objecting to the women because, he said, they had an interest in the labor movement which disqualified them as public representatives. Mowrey's letter, written June 30, criticized the women members and also the membership of a "waiter who also is head of a hotel chapel of a local union in Cleveland, apparently referring to Joseph H. Taylor, an employee of the board."

Ohio Aircraft Firm May Move to Pennsylvania

PITTSBURGH, July 23—Taylorcraft, Inc., Alliance, O., manufacturer of light airplanes, may move its plant to Allegheny county, it was disclosed here.

Ben J. Mauro, Ambridge, Pa., automobile dealer and chairman of the board of the company, conferred with county commissioners yesterday on the possibility of obtaining a manufacturing site near Allegheny county airport.

Mauro said that the company had lost its lease in Alliance and was forced to move. He said the firm has several offers from mid-western communities but that company officials would rather move here.

Senator Hints Inquiry Into Steel Black Mart

WASHINGTON, July 23 — A spokesman for Sen. Edward Martin, (R) Pa., says the senator will recommend that top steel industry officials be called before a senate investigating committee for an "open and frank discussion" of the steel black market.

George Bloom, executive assistant to Martin, told reporters the senate small business committee will be asked to summon leaders of U. S. Steel Corp., Republic Steel Corp., Jones and Laughlin Steel Co., Bethlehem Steel Co., and "other large steel-producing companies."

Dutch-Indonesian Fight Called Symptom of Empires' Decline

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

There is no dark mystery about the warfare which had erupted again between the Indonesian republic and the imperial Dutch forces; it's just another of many indications that the day of empires is fading.

To understand the cause of the current crisis we must go back a bit. The revolutionary Indonesian republic has been the de facto government for the major portions of the rich islands of Java and Sumatra since the winter of 1945. Lengthy negotiations between the Dutch and the rebels heavily punctuated by warfare finally resulted in an agreement whereby a United States of Indonesia, encompassing both the republic and the remainder of the East Indies, would come into being in 1949.

Dominion Status

The new nation was to have dominion status. Holland was to retain a hand in foreign relations, defense, finance and in subjects of an economic or cultural nature. The queen of the dominion, Disagreement over the method of implementing the new government is credited with precipitating the latest upheaval. However, I think we must go deeper than that. If we could look into the mind of the Indonesian we likely should encounter some such reasoning as this:

"The Dutch and the Indonesians are racially as far apart as the poles. We have little in common. The queen of the Netherlands is a benevolent and lovable personage, but she is not one of us. The members of her government are foreigners to us. We want absolute severance from Holland, so that we may rule ourselves in these fair lands of wealth which have been inhibited by our race for untold generations. It isn't that we like the Dutch the less, but that we like our absolute freedom the more."

Cause of Outbreak

That's what your correspondent believes they think. And that is the basic cause of this fresh outbreak.

Your Questions Are Always Welcome . . .

Today more questions are being asked about funeral service than ever before. We welcome them. It indicates that people are giving consideration to a matter that, in the past, often has been neglected until it was too late to ask questions. Advance information is far more apt to assure satisfactory service when it is needed—and at a cost in keeping with a family's ability to pay.

MID-JULY ESTIMATE ON CORN CROP UP

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 23—The agriculture department, in a special report, yesterday forecast this year's weather-plagued corn crop at 2,770,330,000 bushels on the basis of July 15 conditions.

This estimate compares with 2,612,259,000 bushels previously forecast on the basis of July 1 conditions, with last year's record of 3,287,927,000 and with a 10-year (1926-35) average of 2,639,102,000.

The prospective reduction from last year was said to reflect one of the most adverse planting seasons of record—a season of excessive rain and floods and cool weather.

The government's corn crop goal for the year is 3,000,000,000 bushels. Officials said at least 2,350,000,000 bushels of good quality corn will be needed to maintain livestock and poultry production at present levels.

A lower level of livestock and poultry production would tend to boost consumer prices providing, of course, demand continued strong.

break. If we believe the writing on the wall, this means that sooner or later (and probably earlier) The Netherlands must relinquish all claims on the wealth of Indonesia.

The same is true of all imperial powers, because the demand for independence is running around the world like a theme song. We are seeing its effect in the vast sub-continent of India just granted its freedom by England. Britain also is relinquishing Burma—now torn by a bloody internal political crisis.

Around the corner the French are battling to keep French Indo China in line. French and Italian colonies in Africa are reaching for the sun. Egypt is demanding the withdrawal of British troops from her soil, and relinquishment of control over the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. And so the story goes. Empires are as outmoded as the Georgian stage-coach.

Naturally this doesn't mean that all imperial possessions are going by the board overnight. However, the time is fast passing when intelligent people of different races can be bound together by a jewel studded crown and scepter. Com-nationalisms comprising sovereign nations of different races may be formed successfully for mutual benefit—and someday we may get that vast commonwealth which many look forward to as "one world." But empires are all but anachronistic.

And by the same token, any attempt to create a bloc of nations by force, against the will of their peoples, must fail in the long run.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

New-Born Infants

Present attacks of vomiting in the new-born baby means that the doctor should be consulted at once because they may indicate the condition known as congenital pyloric stenosis.

Pyloric stenosis occurs because of a thickening of the muscular valve, known as the pylorus, located between the stomach and the first part of the intestine. Ordinarily, this valve closes to keep food in the stomach until it is ready to pass into the small intestine, but in pyloric stenosis the valve remains closed, blocking the opening so that food does not get through.

This disorder may be present at birth, particularly in boy babies, though usually it comes on at six weeks of age, causing vomiting, followed by loss in weight and, eventually, starvation.

Apparently, pyloric stenosis varies greatly in its severity, that is, the closure may be more or less complete. Thus the type of treatment varies with the severity of the condition.

When pyloric stenosis is present in the new-born baby, it is important to recognize it early so that it can be treated at once before the child's condition becomes worse through lack of nourishment.

Mild cases, it appears, may be treated medically. This medical treatment, according to Dr. Wilfred J. Pearson of England, consists in washing out the stomach with a warm salt solution, regulating the feedings, and making sure that loss of fluids from the body, or dehydration is corrected. In addition, atropine, a preparation which relaxes muscle spasm, may be employed, together with phenobarbital which is a sedative or quieting drug but is used in these conditions because it relaxes the stomach and intestine.

Of course, these preparations must be carefully administered under the direction of a physician, so that the correct dose is used. As a general rule, the atropine is given a half hour before each feeding. If there is any evidence of loss of fluids from the body, salt solution may be given either by injection into a vein or under the skin.

As a general rule, breast milk is the best food for these babies. In some cases, however, it may be necessary to give thickened cereal feedings. The amount of food given at each feeding should be small, and the feedings given at more frequent intervals than usual, that is, every three hours.

In severe cases of pyloric stenosis, operation is required. If the operation is done early, and the only is put in the best possible condition before operation is usually quite successful. Any delay before the operation is performed, blood transfusion, that is the injection of whole blood into a vein, is often helpful.

After the operation, small quantities of food are given at each feeding, and then the amount gradually increased.

Youth Events Planned By Lee Street Class

Interesting evenings are ahead for boys and girls in the Lee Street Presbyterian church community, according to plans being made by the Adult class of the Sunday school. When members of the class met Friday evening in the church basement, plans were formulated for a weekly recreational program to be held during the school months under the direction of members of the class.

The recreational events will be held in the church basement and will be open to all boys and girls of the community. Members of the class will be in charge of the activities, which are expected to get under way in September.

Clyde Tumbleton was named chairman of the committee to serve during the first three months. He will be assisted in planning the programs by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford George, Mrs. Ralph Graff and Scott Rider. Members of the class also will assist.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Robert Blankenship and Mrs. Carl Campbell.

Batting. Stan Musial, Cardinals — Slammed his 10th home run of the season, a double and single, drove in two runs and scored three times to lead the Cardinals to a 10-5 victory over the Giants.

Pitching. Bobo Newsom, Yankees — Won his third straight since joining the Yankees with a brilliant three-hit shutout over the St. Louis Browns. It was his 201st major league victory.

Bobo Wins 3rd Straight For Yanks

Fans Wonder Why Washington Let Traveling Hurler Go.

By The Associated Press

Veteran baseball observers were wondering today how the old fox, President Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators, allowed himself to be persuaded into unloading the talkative but talented Louis Norman (Bobo) Newsom.

Old Bobo making his third start for his newest club, the American league leading New York Yankees, won his third straight game with a brilliant three-hit 6-0 shutout victory over the St. Louis Browns before 51,061 appreciative fans.

Bobo himself said he had asked Griffith for a transfer from the Senators two weeks ago. "Yeah, I got tired of the Washington situation so I said to Griffith, 'Let me get away from here.' Let me go."

Moved 22 Times

The 38-year-old Newsom has been with six American league clubs (he's missed only Cleveland and Chicago), two National league teams and nine in the minors, and has made no fewer than 22 shifts.

While Griffith may have some misgivings over allowing Bobo to talk himself into a transfer, Washington Manager Ossie Bluege said he was not sorry. "He couldn't win for us, and looked like he never was going to," said Bluege.

The runner-up Detroit Tigers, 10½ games behind, lost to the Senators in a night game in Washington 6-1 as Early Wynn registered his 11th victory of the campaign with a two-hitter. Mickey Vernon led the Senator attack with three hits and drove in two runs.

Birdie Tebbets' double scored Don Dillinger with the run that gave the Boston Red Sox a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox in 10 innings at Boston.

Stan Musial, rapidly regaining his 1946 batting form, slammed out a single, double and his 10th homer to lead the fourth place St. Louis Cardinals to a 10-5 win over the New York Giants in a night game at St. Louis.

The Chicago Cubs and Boston Braves swapped 2-0 shutout victories in Chicago. Red Barrett of the Braves held the Cubs to four hits in the opener, outpitching Hank Borowy. Veteran Claude Passeau, who rejoined the Cubs less than a month ago, scattered eight hits in gaining his first win of the year. Bill Voiselle was the loser.

The scheduled daylight game between Philadelphia's Phils and the Pirates in Pittsburgh was postponed.

PLAYS THAT COUNT

By FRANK ECK

AP Sports Editor

Lou Boudreau, manager and shortstop of the Cleveland Indians, has been involved in many hair raising plays since he came up with the Tribe in 1939 but the one he remembers as well as any happened on July 4, 1944.

"We were playing the Yankees in an important doubleheader in Yankee Stadium," says Boudreau. "The Yankees had men on first and second with one out in a close game in the eighth inning."

"I had just put Joe Mauer in the box to relieve Albie Reynolds, now with the Yankees. Mike Milosevich hit Mauer's first pitch through the box and a bit to the left of second base."

"It looked like a sure hit and a run but I threw myself at the ball and how I stopped it is a mystery. While lying on the ground I found the ball to Ray Mack on second base and Mack tossed it to Mickey Rocco on first for a double play."

"We won the game 3-1 and also the second contest that day, 7-2."

There were 40,108 fans in the Stadium that day, and, according to accounts in the papers, Boudreau's stop was a sensation.

Ace Hurler Bill Rosin Slips Up As Packers Win in 9th Frame

MUNCIE, July 23—Billy Rosin blanked Muncie with three hits until the eighth inning but the home team slipped from beneath his thumb to win a 3-2 decision before 565 shivering fans here last night.

The victory gave the Packers an even break in the two-game Marion set. Tonight the Cubs invaded Richmond.

Rosin and lefty Ed Post hooked up in a tight duel with Post allowing only five hits and fanning 11 and Rosin giving up six and fanning nine.

Post presented the Cubs a pair of unearned runs in the sixth when he dropped a throw from Lambert while covering first to allow John Smith to score with two out and then walked in Wally Rasmussen who had doubled. Post's error was the only misplay of the first five frames.

Tommy Florence, the shortstop brought the Packers into contention in the eighth when he tripled with two out to score Spike Foster who was hit and Bob Montag who walked.

Al Spaziano was fanned by Rosin to open the Muncie ninth but Billy Ford, the third baseman, tripled to dead center and scored when Post punched a roller a few feet in front of the plate. Manager Nelson Burkhart retrieved the ball and dived at Ford but the Muncie runner slid under him to end the game.

OSL Breaks Out In Rash of 1-Run Win Margin Tilts

By The Associated Press

Four of the Ohio State league's five games last night were decided by one-run margins, and in each instance the victorious club rallied to win.

Only the Richmond Roses 6-2 win over the Lima Terriers failed to follow the pattern.

League-leading Zanesville spotted Springfield's Giants four runs and got but one hit for five innings before breaking loose in the sixth for two tallies and clinching the game with three more in the seventh. The final score was 5-4.

Muncie's Packers edged second-place Marion, 3-2, dropping the Cubs five games behind Zanesville while Newark twice came from behind at Dayton for 6-5 and 2-1 doubleheader triumphs.

Pitching standouts were Sandy Lambert of Zanesville who won his 15th victory and ran his strikeout string to 150; Ed Post of Muncie, and Paul Eiferl, Richmond rookie. At Dayton, who won his first league start on a six-hit performance.

Bill Veeck To Undergo Second Operation

CLEVELAND, O., July 23 — Surgeons expect to remove about two additional inches from Bill Veeck's right leg today because the stump from his first amputation has failed to heal properly.

The Cleveland Indians president was in Cleveland Clinic hospital for the operation. His leg was hurt in a wartime accident.

"I've got no one but myself to blame for this," said Veeck. "When I get out of here this time I'll be a good boy."

SMITTY'S SOFTBALL NINE TAKES 4-3 WIN OVER SHANTY TOWN

Make Hits Go for Extra Bases as West Siders Outlit Them.

Because two of their three hits, Wilcox's double and R. Culver's home run, each gave them two runs, Smitty's Night Softball league leaders, did not have to outwit Shanty Town Bar at Crystal Lake park last night to win 4-3.

Wilcox drove in two in the second and Culver hit a two-run circuit clout in the third. Shanty Town then scored two in the fourth and in the sixth catcher Grubb stole home.

Don Cook, Smitty leftfielder, earned fielding laurels with a brilliant one-handed shoe string catch.

Another Night league game was scheduled, but Marion Engineers Depot failed to show, Huber getting a forfeit.

Schlairer, McAllister, Moose Win Softball Slugging Duels

By GEORGE ROEST

They gave the game back to the sluggers last night in city softball as Schlairer, McAllister, Moose and St. Mary 2 won.

Schlairer took Tong Implement, 2-4, in one of the more subdued hitting matches. Kenny Somerlot was the big man in the batter's box with three hits for the winners while Jim Ward got three of the losers' four hits.

McAllister stormed from behind in the sixth inning of their game with DeMolay and when the din had subsided an even dozen runs had come in, McAllister winning 15-7.

The Standard Oil-Moose game really went to the extreme as Moose won 19-9. Wilcox and Al-mendinger were the leading batsmen with three hits each.

First Presbyterian failed to show for their scheduled joust with St. Mary 2.

Last night each team collected only three hits and was guilty of costly errors.

The Tribe scored their three runs in the first inning. After Dale Mitchell walked, Hank Edwards tapped to Bill Dietrich, who first fumbled the grounder and then threw wildly to first. Mitchell scored and Edwards advanced to third when Ferris Fain tossed wide of the plate trying to nip Mitchell. Lou Boudreau walked and Eddie Robinson drilled a single to right. Scoring Edwards. It didn't take the A's long to get back after Sam Chapman cracked a home run with Fain on base in the second inning. Philadelphia went ahead to stay in the fourth frame as Barney McCosky opened with a double and Eddie Joost and George Binks walked to fill the bases.

Bryan Stephens replaced Al Gettel at this point and walked Fain to force in McCosky. Chapman then sent a long fly to center and Joost scored after the catch.

WILLIAMS MIZE

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, July 23—One of those baseball oddities occurred yesterday when Ted Williams of the New York Giants, the Boston Red Sox and Johnny both were struck by pitched balls and were so badly bruised that there is some question whether they will play today.

Williams suffered a bad bruise on his right wrist when struck by a pitch by Ed Lopat in the ninth inning of the Red Sox-Chicago White Sox game, and Mize was hit over the right ear by Harry Brecheen as he led off the batting order in the fourth inning of last night's game with the St. Louis Cardinals. Dr. Robert Hyland said Mize had a slight concussion.

Last night each team collected only three hits and was guilty of costly errors.

The Tribe scored their three runs in the first inning. After Dale Mitchell walked, Hank Edwards tapped to Bill Dietrich, who first fumbled the grounder and then threw wildly to first. Mitchell scored and Edwards advanced to third when Ferris Fain tossed wide of the plate trying to nip Mitchell. Lou Boudreau walked and Eddie Robinson drilled a single to right. Scoring Edwards. Boudreau crossed the plate on Joe Gordon's single.

But Cleveland ended its scoring activities right there although Dietrich needed help from Russ Christopher in the eighth inning because of a shoulder injury.

It didn't take the A's long to get back after Sam Chapman cracked a home run with Fain on base in the second inning. Philadelphia went ahead to stay in the fourth frame as Barney McCosky opened with a double and Eddie Joost and George Binks walked to fill the bases.

Bryan Stephens replaced Al Gettel at this point and walked Fain to force in McCosky. Chapman then sent a long fly to center and Joost scored after the catch.
